Unified Europe Army May Include German And American Troops

By JOHN HIGHTOWER
NEW YORK — (AP)—An historic American proposal to include United States and German troops in a unified battle force for the defense of western Europe confronted the North Atlantic council today.

The plan demanded one of the gravest decisions from the Atlantic alliance since it came into being.

The plan was outlined to the council late yesterday by Secretary of State Dean Acheson, who presented it as a one-package deal.

He told the representatives of the other eleven Atlantic powers that the United States is ready to take the revolutionary step in its own foreign policy and assign troops to a European force, provided the other nations take other steps necessary to assure an adequate defense.

Here are the salient points of the American plan, according to fully-informed diplomatic sources:

- 1—Creation of a central, integrated western European defense force under the command staff headed by a supreme commander.
- 2—Assignment to this force of national contingents of all the different Atlantic treaty nations, specifically including a substantially reinforced American army in Europe.
- 3—Employment of all the available manpower which can be mustered, including troops from western Germany.
- 4—Reorganization of the Atlantic treaty machinery to provide for supervision of production of arms and equipment, according to a system of priorities.
- 5—Establishment of financial cooperation machinery, with the United States prepared to help step up the arms output of any nation which already is making a maximum effort with its own resources.

The French naval ship, a meteorological craft, went down in the Bay of Frenelle, about 90 miles south of Cherbourg near the port of St. Malo.

Cause of the explosion was not known immediately.

Naval rescue vessels and tugs from all along the French coast rushed to the scene.

A Merchant Marine ministry informant said 75 men were aboard the frigate, and about 40 were believed rescued.

The frigate was identified as La Place, the former 1,400-ton U. S. frigate Roanoke launched March 18, 1944.

La Place, adapted for weather observation, was enroute from Brest to take part in ceremonies at the opening of a new lock in St. Malo.

Luxury Liner To Be Finished For Troop Ship

By CHARLES MOLONY
WASHINGTON — (AP)—America's determination to hustle to a ready-for-war footing and stay on it a long, long time was evidenced today by a decision about a ship.

The government has decided to finish as a troopship what was to have been the biggest and finest passenger vessel ever built in this country—the steamship "United States"—980 feet long, 48,000 tons, costing $70,000,000.

Work Speeded Up
This superliner is under construction at Newport News, Va. The scheduled date of completion was the spring of 1952 before the government announced yesterday she'll be turned into a troop transport—probably under a faster construction schedule.

Five other passenger ships are being built in this country, and three of these, the President Adams, President Jackson, and President Hayes, also will be completed as troop carriers—probably faster than next spring, as originally contemplated.

Each of the three is 536 feet long, 13,000 tons.

These three and the "United States" were selected for conversion at this time "because the work could be done on them with the greatest economy by initiating it early," government maritime authorities said.

The "United States" will get a new name for military usage. It will carry 12,000 troops—almost a division. The three "president" ships also to be renamed, each will carry 2,500 to 3,000.

As a luxury liner, the "United States" would have carried 2,000 passengers, only about 200 less than the ocean liners she was designed to rival—Britain's Queen Mary and Queen Elizabeth.

Volcano Death Toll Up To 84

MANILA (AP)—Mighty Hibok-Hibok volcano today sent villagers scurrying for cover from red hot ashes after killing an estimated 84 persons in its latest eruption.

The southern Philippines volcano injured 35 others.

Residents of three nearby villages were evacuated to other parts of Camiguin Island as the big volcano continued to erupt.

The estimate of 84 dead came from the Manila Bulletin's correspondent on the scene. The Red Cross estimated 60 to 70 dead.

Two years ago 30,000 of the island's 45,000 inhabitants were evacuated when the volcano emitted hot lava and acidic gas. It was feared the present eruption might result in another such lava flow.

Three small naval craft were standing by to take off villagers.

Ford Will Build Aircraft Engines At Chicago Plant

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago Journal of Commerce in a copy-right story today said the Ford Motor company is soon to start manufacture of B-36 aircraft engines in a huge Chicago plant.

The newspaper said Ford will start making a "substantial quantity" of engines for the Air Force big bomber "just as soon as possible."

The newspaper said the "order for the deal was signed at Wright Field, Dayton, yesterday (Friday) and sent to Ford."

Col. C. H. Welch of the air material command at Wright Field, said "no such contract was signed today (Friday)."

The Journal of Commerce account said that "Ford officials are planning to move immediately to get the huge plant (largest in the world) into production."

The 480-acre plant, on Chicago's southwest side, was operated by the Dodge division of Chrysler Corp., before World War II but during the war B-29 engines were made. The Tucker corporation took over the plant after the war for production of a radically-designed rear-engine automobile. However, the corporation went into bankruptcy without reaching volume production.

The Journal of Commerce said that because of security rules it was not publishing the amount of the initial Ford contract. It added, however, it "involves millions of dollars."

At the same time in Detroit the Detroit News said contract negotiations for production of aircraft engines also are nearing the final stages between the Air Force and General Motors Corp.

The News said General Motors planned to center its airplane engine output at a new plant in Flint, Mich. The News also carried the report of Ford taking over operations at the Dodge-Chicago plant.

Powerful Pincer Closes On Communists In Korea

Six Little Ships And Red Blunder Aid Inchon Victory

By RELMAN MORIN
Abroad the Flagship of Joint Task Force Seven, off Inchon, Korea, — (AP)—The landing at Inchon in a large part is the story of six brave little ships and a wonderful blunder.

The North Koreans made the blunder. The little ships, the big ones, the planes and finally a marine assault force capitalized on it.

A chain of events started by those six ships led directly to the victory at Inchon.

Island Is Key
In the entrance to Inchon harbor, and commanding approaches to it, is the Island of Wolmi. It is a wooded island shaped like an oyster shell. From the beaches, the ground rises 300 feet to a rounded top. A stone causeway connects the island to the Inchon waterfront.

Wolmi was the key to the entire operation. Before the main attack on Inchon could begin, Wolmi had to be taken. In an order issued before the battle, Rear Adm. James H. Doyle, commander of Task Force 90, said:

"This mission (Wolmi) must be successfully completed at any cost. Failure will seriously jeopardize or even prevent the major amphibious assault on Inchon. Therefore, press the assault with the utmost vigor despite loss or difficulty."

Armor Light
A big question loomed—what did the North Koreans have on Wolmi to defend it? How many guns? How big? Where?

Six brave little ships—six destroyers—were sent to find out. Vice Adm. Arthur D. Struble, commander of Joint Task Force

Seven, ordered a "reconnaissance in force."

The mission frankly was to draw fire from Wolmi—the more the better.

A destroyer's armor is three-eighths of an inch thick. Practically anything stronger than a shinglet will pierce it.

On the morning of Sept. 13, "D Day minus two," the six brave little ships, moving in column, and slowly, sailed into the narrowing channel leading past Wolmi to Inchon.

One anchored off the southern face of the island. Three passed through the neck of the channel to the other side. Two remained in the channel.

Gun Position Revealed
Then the North Koreans made the fateful and wonderful blunder.

Suddenly a necklace of gun flashes sparkled around the waist

Don't Fix GOP State Ticket Yet, Says Kelly

LANSING (AP)—Harry F. Kelly, Republican nominee for governor, today appealed to G. O. P. state convention delegates to avoid committing themselves to candidates for the state ticket until the Grand Rapids convention Sept. 23.

Kelly's appeal, addressed to party county chairman, came as State Treasurer D. Hale Brake, an announced candidate for re-nomination, denied any part in a reported move to fix up a G. O. P. slate before the convention.

Kelly wrote the county party heads, "I have completed a primary campaign without commitments to anyone. My only requirement is that we select a strong ticket that will win in November, composed of capable, loyal individuals who will work with the governor during the next two important years."

"This can be accomplished if the delegates will assemble at Grand Rapids with this objective in mind. It is my opinion that they should reserve final judgment until that time."

Conferees Agree On Bill To Block U. S. Communists

By G. MILTON KELLY
WASHINGTON — (AP)—Senate House conferees have tentatively agreed on the final terms of a bill aimed at hobbling Communist activities in this country.

Among other things, the measure calls for internment—without the right of habeas corpus—of dangerous Reds in time of invasion, insurrection in the cause of a foreign power, or rebellion.

The conferees reportedly turned down a Senate proposal for internment power at any time the country is at war.

House Awaits Measure
Broadly, however, the compromise bill follows terms of a Senate-approved Communist control bill adopted earlier in the week. The House had passed a sharply different anti-Communist measure earlier.

Senator McCarran (D-Nev), conference chairman forbade official announcement of the terms. He said he won't consider a real agreement has been reached until the last "T" is crossed, and the last conferee has signed the recommendations, probably Monday.

The measure then would go to the House, which has agreed to vote on nothing before Wednesday.

Jail Terms Provided
Informed senators said this is what the measure's internment provisions will do:

1. The attorney general, on complaint showing "reasonable cause" for suspicion, could have dangerous Reds or other subversive characters thrown into jail to be held indefinitely with or without trial.

2. The President, under the same conditions—invasion, insurrection or rebellion—could suspend the right of habeas corpus. That is the legal device for forcing a court hearing on whether a jailed or imprisoned person is unlawfully held.

3. The internment would have recourse of appeal to examiners, and next to a review or detention board, the findings of which could be reversed by either the attorney general or the courts in due time.

4. The internment could not be confined at "hard labor."

Other provisions reportedly agreed on would (A) require the registration of Communist or Communist front groups, (B) bar such persons from employment on national defense projects, and (C) stiffen penalties for conspiracy to overthrow the government.

John Foster Dulles, state department adviser who had the leading role in the term favored by the U. S. talked last June with Prime Minister Yoshida and Japanese parliamentary leaders.

Dulles now is an American delegate to the U. N. general assembly.

Officials said the new exchanges presumably will be through Gen. Douglas MacArthur and his staff.

Giving the Japanese a voice in the treaty planning is in accord with the American program—disclosed yesterday—of welcoming Japan back into the world family without reparations or limitations on rearmament or trade.

Prison Warden Shift Approved

LANSING (AP)—The transfer of Emory E. Jacques from his position as warden at Marquette branch prison to deputy warden at Southern Michigan prison was approved yesterday by the state civil service commission.

The transfer was announced early this summer by Corrections Commissioner Ernest C. Brooks, but it was blocked when Jacques filed an appeal. He fought the transfer on the grounds it was a demotion.

Brooks said Jacques would not be cut in salary and that the position at Southern Michigan prison was in the same civil service classification as the one at Marquette.

The civil service hearing board denied Jacques' appeal, and the civil service commission yesterday upheld the board.

The approval clears the way for the transfer of A. Ross Pascoe, veteran state parole board member and Upper Peninsula native, to the wardenship at Marquette.

Ralph E. Benson, present deputy to Southern Michigan prison, will be transferred to the parole board.

Effective date of the transfers has not been set.

River Crossed

The big operation U. S. strategists conceived with the objective of quickly destroying the North Korean army was beginning to produce results.

The South Korean high command announcement, relating to the Inchon-Seoul area, and South Korean marines captured the Seoul industrial suburb of Youngdunpo at 5 p. m. Saturday (3 a. m. EST Saturday).

Other U. S. forces, it said, crossed the Broad Han river, between Youngdunpo and Seoul proper, and were advancing towards the heart of Seoul in street fighting.

The U. S. marines who took Kimpo airfield also crossed the Han and pierced the northwest Seoul suburb of Neungdok, the South Koreans reported.

Tanks Lead Advance

A U. S. air force spokesman said the marines seized the Kimpo airfield against relatively light resistance. He said the field was secure and soon may be in operation.

The leathernecks swiftly secured their beachhead after 262 allied ships arrived off the Yellow Sea port with some 40,000 troops. At daybreak Saturday they began fanning out toward the Red-held capital of Seoul, 22 miles eastward.

They plunged ahead at least six miles. Six Red tanks on their left flank, three miles north of Inchon, were knocked out by Marine Corsair fighter-bombers and ground fire.

New U. S. Offensive Strikes In South

TOKYO, Sunday (AP)—Tank-led American and South Korean marines late Saturday captured the southwest industrial suburb of Seoul, fought into the northwest, and advanced towards the heart of the Red-held Korean capital.

The fast-moving attack has gained 22-miles since United Nations forces landed at Seoul's port of Inchon Friday.

The South Korean Republic high command announced the advances in a broadcast from Pusan.

Retreat In Confusion

U. S. Marines already have seized Seoul's Kimpo airfield, 12 miles northeast of Inchon and 15 miles northwest of Seoul.

Simultaneously, a full-scale allied offensive kicked off all along the 120-mile perimeter of the old defense line in South Korea.

It made good to moderate gains in hard-slogging conflict in rain and mud.

Most notable advance in the southeast was made by the U. S. Second division. It drove back to the east bank of the Nakdong river—a four and one-half mile gain.

A second division spokesman said the Korean Reds were withdrawing westward in a "general exodus," and in "vast, mad confusion." The battlefield was littered with their dead.

Grouse Season Expected Good

Small Game Hunting To Open Oct. 1

Grouse shooting will highlight the coming small game season, scheduled to open Oct. 1 in the Upper Peninsula.

Surveys by the conservation department point to another good hunting season for grouse in most of the U. P., with best bird counts being reported from the west end of the five-county Baraga district. Delta county and the central U. P. area is not far behind, however, and the best hunting in several years is anticipated.

Conservation officers, federal and state foresters, and district game managers made the grouse surveys.

While most of the hunters are preparing to take the field for ruffed grouse (or "partridge" to the oldtimers) there will be the opportunity to try for prairie chicken and sharp-tailed grouse as well, although they are reported to be few in number.

The season on ruffed grouse, sharp-tailed and prairie chicken is for 20 days—from Oct. 1 to Oct. 20. Opening of the season on Sunday assures a big first-day turnout of hunters. Shooting time for upland small game starts at 7 a. m. E. S. T.

Five grouse may be taken in one day, with not more than 10 in possession, and a total of 25 for the season.

Bag limit on prairie chicken and sharp-tailed combined is three on one day, six in possession and 25 for the season.

Delta Gray Squirrels Woodcock also are on the open season list from Oct. 1-20, but the shooting time is from one-half hour before sunrise to sunset. Bag and possession limits for woodcock are the same as last year—four a day, eight in possession.

Rabbits may be taken starting Oct. 1 at 7 a. m. in the U. P. and the season continues to March 1, 1951. Five may be taken in one day, with 10 in possession and 50 in a season.

Gray squirrels only (no fox or black) may be taken in Delta county this year, only county in the U. P. to be opened to squirrel hunting. The season is from Oct. 1 to Oct. 10 and the bag limit is two in one day, four in possession, and 20 for the season.

In Menominee county only, pheasant may be hunted south of Highway US-2. The number allowed is restricted to not more than one in a day, two in possession, and a total of three for the season.

Army Crimps Writer Of AP Inchon Scoop

TOKYO — (AP) — Associated Press Correspondent Bill Shinn, who broke the story of the Inchon landing, today was denied permission by the army to use the military telephone connecting Korea and Tokyo.

He had been using the military telephone regularly.

Maj. Buel A. Williamson, a public information officer in General MacArthur's headquarters here, said Shinn, a native of Korea, was not an accredited correspondent in the far east command.

Williamson said, however, that Shinn would be permitted to continue to work for the AP in Korea and his stories could be telephoned to Tokyo by other AP men on the scene.

Only Newsmen Present

Shinn was the only correspondent for a world news agency present in Pusan when Maj. Gen. Chung Il Kwon announced that U. S. Marines and South Koreans had landed near Inchon.

Chung, commander-in-chief of South Korean forces, released the news at 1:45 p. m. yesterday (11:45 p. m., EST, Thursday) to South Korean reporters for Korean-language newspapers in Pusan.

Within 20 minutes, Shinn had reached the only telephone to Tokyo he could use and was dictating the story to AP headquarters there.

An hour and 19 minutes later Maj. Williamson told the AP that general headquarters had ordered the AP to kill the story on the grounds that it was premature.

At the time the order to kill Shinn's story was issued, General Chung's report already was in print in Korean language newspapers in Pusan and had been broadcast by the South Korea radio. News of the landing was general knowledge throughout Korea.

The AP did not kill the story since it already was out and its accuracy had not been questioned.

Confirmation of Chung's report came more than three hours later in a one paragraph dispatch from AP Correspondents Don Whitehead and Bill Ross. It was datelined "With U. S. Forces Near Inchon."

The army release announcing the invasion was issued at 10:30 p. m., eight hours and 45 minutes after Chung's announcement.

Separated From Family

Shinn was one of the first North Koreans to flee from Red-dominated North Korea after World War II.

He went to Seoul, where he became assistant manager of the Chosen hotel. There he became friends with some U. S. officers, for whom he often acted as interpreter, and they took up a collection to send him to college in the U. S.

After his return, he joined the AP in Seoul. When the Reds invaded South Korea, he and his family fled south. They were separated and he has not seen them since.

Al Jolson Arrives In Korea War Zone To Sing For GIs

TOKYO. — (AP) — Al Jolson arrived by plane Thursday on his own expense "to sing some songs" for GIs in Japan and Korea.

Jolson, a USO entertainer in World War II, was the first name actor to come here for appearances before American troops.

He brought along his own accompanist, song writer Harry Akst.

Jolson will visit wounded GIs in U. S. Army hospitals in Tokyo and Yokohama. He will leave Saturday for airbases and other installations in South Japan. From there he will go to Korea for performances near the battle zones.

On his return from Korea, the radio and film star will visit hospitals at Fukuoka, Osaka and Kyoto.

Arriving on the same plane with Jolson were Gen. Carl A. Spaatz (retired), former chief of the U. S. Air Force and now a magazine writer, and Maj. Gen. Raymond W. Bliss, surgeon general of the U. S. Army.

City Council Approves Boost In Water Bond Issue Up To $200,000

The Escanaba city council Friday at a special meeting authorized the issuance of $800,000 in water revenue bonds as a hedge against possible increases in construction costs for the new filter plant, but stipulated that bonds should not be sold in excess of actual need for the project.

The council previously had planned to issue only $750,000 worth of revenue bonds to finance the filter plant and to install additional water mains in North Escanaba.

The increase in bond authorization is only for protective purposes to avoid delays in getting the project under way in the event that bids are larger than

Court Upholds Barasa's Claim May Practice Law In Michigan

MARQUETTE, Mich. — (Special) — The Michigan Supreme Court has upheld the contention of Bernard P. Barasa Sr., Chicago attorney, that he is a member of the Michigan State Bar and has a right to practice law in Michigan.

Barasa, one-time Chicago municipal judge, is attorney for Marie Louise Tonella in her suit for $250,000 against Young Kaufman and Ruth Kaufman, her brother and sister-in-law. Kaufman, president of the First National Bank of Marquette, and Mrs. Tonella are grandchildren of the late Otto Young.

The Tonella-Kaufman case, involving an alleged assault by Mr. and Mrs. Kaufman on Mrs. Tonella in November, 1946, was filed in Marquette County Circuit Court July 19, 1949. On July 28, 1949, the defendants moved to quash the summons on the grounds Barasa was not a member of the state bar association.

Circuit Judge Glenn W. Jackson on Sept. 6, 1949, ruled that Barasa was not entitled to practice law in Michigan. At that time Barasa presented evidence showing he had applied on Aug. 17, 1949, to the State Bar Association for registration.

In handing down its ruling, the State Supreme Court declared that Barasa was admitted to the practice of law in this state in 1920; that his license had not been suspended or revoked and that no proceedings were taken to change his status as an active member of the State Bar Association.

Atty. Barasa is a native of Trembley, Delta county, and has a summer cottage at Little Lake in Marquette county.

Editorials— Extension Of Tourist Season Is Great Need In Upper Peninsula

THE Upper Peninsula Development Bureau has issued a news article stating that there is a need for an increased number of "winterized" cabins and cottages in the Hiawathaland region.

This way be true in some sections of the Upper Peninsula, but it is hardly the case in Delta county. Most of the resorts in this county are insulated and heated for winter occupancy, but the fly in the ointment is there is not enough tourist traffic in the off-season periods to provide adequate occupancy.

Business has been traditionally good in the Upper Peninsula from the Fourth of July to Labor Day. In recent years, Delta county has received an additional play during the late May and June walleye fishing season. Patronage slumps in September and October, and there is a marked pick-up in travel during the Nov. 15 to 30 deer hunting season.

An effort has been made to promote winter sports to attract tourists during December, January and February. While considerable headway has been made in this field, the volume of business is not sufficient to warrant keeping a large number of "winterized" cottages.

During the past decade, the Upper Peninsula has made great strides in expanding tourist accommodations. In some areas, the competition has become very keen because of insufficient travel.

The Upper Peninsula needs not worry so much about adequate accommodations just now as it has to concern itself with advertising publicity and promotional efforts to attract more vacationists to this region.

Government Should Control Red Labeling

GYPSY ROSE LEE, famous strip tease, is the latest public figure to have a finger pointed at her as "subversive." A little while back it was Jean Muir, movie and television actress.

For some time now the country has been legitimately alarmed over the Communists in its midst. Congress at this moment is trying to work out legislation to give us protection against them. The House-approved Wood bill stresses the need to strip away false fronts and label Communists and their organizations for what they are.

Even if the government were to conduct this labeling process, as it would under the Wood bill, there'd always be great risk of besmirching innocent people and groups. That risk explains the determined opposition to the plan by many in Congress.

But if private individuals and organizations join in the labeling, the danger of hurting innocent folk is far greater. Rumor, fragments of truth, falsehood, all may be seized upon to smear a person in these frenzied times. As we all know, the original charge always catches the most newspaper space; the denial, even when it represents the real truth, is usually relegated to inside pages.

In Miss Muir's case, private individuals objected to her appearance on a TV show. They based their protests on the fact her name was included in a booklet called "Red Channels," the report of a private anti-Communist group on the alleged influence of Reds and sympathizers in radio and TV.

Miss Muir was said to belong to several organizations listed by the government as subversive. She denied membership in some, admitted it in others, but said she nevertheless had no Communist leanings. In fact, she said she hated communism.

As for Gypsy Rose Lee, she was similarly listed by "Red Channels." This time it was the Illinois branch of the American Legion that publicly called her a "dear and close associate of traitors to this country." Miss Lee also denied the charges.

The critical facts about both these individuals can be properly weighed without a complete and fairly inquiry into their activities and thinking.

And we would like to suggest that it is not the business of Counterattack, the group which produced "Red Channels," nor of the American Legion to conduct such an investigation. Nor is it the function of any irate person who might pick up a telephone and complain to a broadcasting company.

Obviously, in these nervous days, any charge of communism can seriously affect an individual's entire future as a U. S. citizen. Miss Muir, for instance, was fired immediately from her TV job. Miss Lee may have trouble, too.

Suppose they are both completely innocent of the charges? Who in America would care to have this happen to him if he also were innocent?

Measuring the loyalty of its citizens should be a government monopoly. Any anti-Communist legislation adopted by Congress should provide machinery for the testing of that loyalty whenever and wherever it is called into question. A thorough, impartial study by a publicly-appointed body should be made in every such case. In each instance, the information private hands have gathered should be given quietly to the government board.

That way, innocent people will be protected from public smearing.

If they are not, then the labeling process will be destructive of the very freedoms we are trying to preserve.

SPARK AMID TINDER
(Christian Science Monitor)

The United States government acted correctly and astutely in promptly turning the Russian plane incident over to the United Nations. We trust the American people will be as wise in their own response. It would be a pity if this episode should feed the preventive-war furor.

From an American standpoint, the aggravation is much less than when an American plane was shot down over the Baltic a few months ago. In the present case the UN force (it may even have been British) was not damaged; the Russians went down.

For most people the big question is whether this means Russia is getting into the Korean struggle. Trying to read the Kremlin's mind is seldom profitable. But if Russia were coming in a much larger effort would appear logical—a real strike. This way Moscow gets the blame without any military gain.

The "accident" explanation is not very persuasive, although mistakes are easy to make in the air. Any Soviet plane operating in that area would risk serious trouble. Was Moscow simply hinting that Russian aid would be close at hand if UN forces pushed the North Koreans back of the 38th parallel?

Whatever the Kremlin purpose (assuming there was a purpose), the effect has been to show more clearly than even Mr. Malik's sharp words that in Korea Russia is opposing the UN.

Cowman

By Gordon Martin

When the cattlemen's convention meets to talk to cows and steers, everybody knows what's going on when first the crowd appears. For the men who grow the country's beef have trademarks all their own, and in any group of citizens, their presence soon is known. And all their ways and manners could be rolled up into one, here's a picture of your cowman as he seeks convention fun:

He will wear a broad-brimmed Stetson and it's color will be light, and his face will show where wind and sun have left their ruddy bite. There's a squint about his eyes that comes from viewing ranges far, and it's like as not he's puffin' on a mighty good cigar. And his jacket's short and made of costly gabardine or twill, and his fitted britches show he doesn't mind a tailor's bill.

On his feet he wears his pride and joy — a pair of high-heeled boots, which are custom-made and never worn by ciltified galsots. Made of leather soft and pliant and with intricate design, they bespeak his trade and, brother, how those glossy babies shine. Add to these a jolly outlook and you've got a cowman prime, when he goes to his convention, there to have himself a time.

Merry-Go-Round The Old Soldier Again Answers the Call

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—There were a good many reasons why Louey Johnson was fired as secretary of national defense. He was, of course, the victim of fate in the Korean war, and the president needed a political scapegoat.

But the most important reason, in the end, for Johnson's exit was that he never made a friend of his chief in the White House. Had he won Truman as a real friend, the president would have stuck by him through hell and high water—regardless of Korean, regardless of military blunders, and regardless of economy at the wrong time.

Truman has stuck by his friend Mon Wallgren, by his friend Dean Acheson, and by his late friend Tom Pendergast, despite all sorts of criticism. But Johnson was never a friend.

In fact, Truman never even trusted his secretary of defense. He knew that Johnson was playing ball with the Republicans, with his old enemy Bernard Baruch, and with others who played on the opposite political ball team. At one time the president complained to Senator Kilgore, who comes from Johnson's home state, West Virginia:

"In order to find out what Louey is up to, I have to read the Republican press and the Chicago Tribune."

Actually, the president's decision to fire Johnson was made four or five weeks ago. After making the decision, Truman told very few people, one of them being General Marshall. Incidentally, it was not until the past week that Marshall finally gave his assent.

Secretary Johnson didn't know he was on the skids till the White House called in Steve Early, the undersecretary of defense, to tell him they wanted his resignation a week earlier than Johnson's, so that Early would not be mixed up in Johnson's exit. But Johnson heard about it through Early's office, went down to the White House and handed in his resignation, thus beating the president to the gun.

STRENGTHENING ACHESON

Mr. Johnson had planned to force the resignation at approximately this time, however, in order to have it coincide with the meeting of the Big Three foreign ministers in New York. This was deliberate strategy planned to strengthen Dean Acheson's hand.

Johnson's eyes were on the Pacific and the Far East, while Acheson considered Europe more important. And the Johnson resignation was a deliberate move planned to strengthen our European front.

In fact, at least two members of the North Atlantic pact — Great Britain and France — had been unhappy over Johnson's leadership of European preparedness, and the British had made no bones about indicating their restlessness under the ebullient and brawny Louey.

British resentment against Johnson undoubtedly dates back to The Hague meeting of national defense ministers, where Johnson deliberately planted a story aimed against British War Secretary John Strachey. Newspaper accounts from The Hague carried the story that British and American defense ministers had arranged to have confidential reports sent direct to British Defense Minister Emanuel Shinwell, thereby circumventing War Secretary Strachey because of his former left-wing connection.

The story was later denied. But it developed that the original story had been planted by Johnson personally with the Associated Press. In fact, the AP man sent a confidential memo to his office telling how Johnson personally had given him the story slapping down the British war secretary.

Naturally, this got back to the British war secretary, and the British have dropped hints from time to time since then that they could work more efficiently with someone other than Louey in our national defense post.

WHAT'S THE ORIGIN?

Q. Will you please explain what a "grue" is? It seems to be some sort of poem or verse.—W. E. P.

A. A "grue" is a shocking, four-line jingle. Robert Louis Stevenson is said to have named them "grues" from the word grue-some, or the Scottish noun grue, which means "a fit of shivering."

Grues usually relate the horrible fate of Little Willie, or Little Bertie. A grue that was popular during my youth is:

Little Willie, in the best of sashes,
Fell in the fire and was burned to ashes.
Although the room grew cold and chilly,
No one cared to stir up Willie.

A more recent version is:

Little Willie on the track
Didn't hear the engine's squeal;
Now the engine's coming back,
Scraping Willie off the wheel.

Similar to the grues are short gruesome anecdotes in prose about Little Audrey and the Little Moron. Little Audrey stories have been passed for some time; the Little Moron stories are still more or less current.

A forerunner of the grues was the once very famous limerick popularized by Edward in his Book of Nonsense (1846). Limericks are still to be seen occasionally in newspapers and magazines. Many of a ribald nature circulate privately.

The late Woodrow Wilson is said to have been a collector of limericks. His favorite was written by Anthony Euwer:

As a beauty I'm not a great star,
Others are handsomer far;
But my face—I don't mind it
Because I'm behind it.

It's the folks out in front that I jar.
I remember especially well a limerick that was current during my boyhood:

There was a young girl from Pawtucket
Had a bustle as big as a bucket.
She filled it with cats
And two bad Billy goats
Came up from behind her and tuck it.

Life Is Rugged For WAC's But They Prove They Can Take It

By MILDRED JAMES

It's already chilly in the pine woods at Camp Lee, Virginia, early these mornings, and mighty dark, too, at 6:45 a.m.

But there's a feminine bugler on hand ready to blow a loud reveille for the sturdy girl soldiers at this the only Army center in the United States where WAC recruits receive their basic training.

Promptly at 5 o'clock a first sergeant wakes up the bugler and a rugged early morning program starts, something new on the staff side of military life, and involving all manner of emergency field training like tent pitching, field sanitation, first aid, camouflage and concealment. It's held for a couple of hours in the woods beside the rifle range. Nearly 130 embryo girl soldiers live in a tent camp.

At 5:30 the WAC camp is quiet. The fires in 20 big squad tents are banked. Over in tent number three—where girls of the first platoon of Company D, First Battalion, Women's Army Training Center, are sleeping—there is only the sound of regular breathing from ten blanketed forms stretched out on canvas cots.

If you were on hand to lift up a side-flap on the typical tent you would see the blonde curls of Recruit Rena Cochran, 19, from Parrish, Alabama, and also the darker tresses of her tent-buddy, Karen Miller, 18, who hails from Berkeley, California.

The girl soldiers don't know it as they lie there, snug and warm in the damp squad tent, but the bugle is thawed out and ready to blast them all awake.

Arise Before 6 a. m.

Recruit June Metcalf, 19, from Aer when she ever got up at 5:45 in the morning before she joined the WACs three months ago. At first she didn't like the early morning rising, but now she's used to it.

Regardless of the weather, the occupants of the 20 squad tents are up for another day of "bivouac," an Army term meaning intensive field training, before the clock strikes six.

Life for girl soldiers isn't all paved roads and weathered barracks. The Women's Army Corps learned that the hard way in World War II. They found out in Normandy, wading through snow, ice and red mud in high boots. They found out in the treacherous Apennines in Italy.

Incorporation of a week's bivouac into the 13-week WAC basic training course is quite something new. A few of the first girl trainees have gone on to leadership school to learn how to be noncoms and perhaps to prepare for officer training. Others with special skills have moved to permanent Army assignments. The great majority, comparatively unskilled in civilian or military specialties, have gone from Camp Lee to other Army posts for schooling in many special vocations needed by the Army.

To the "Bivouac WACs" the week of intensive open air training is an exciting experience; and typical recruits Geraldine Mason, 18, of Rush, N. Y.; Edith H. Stewart, 18, of Ithaca, N. Y.; and Bobbie J. Lawley, 18, of Bessemer, Ala., agree that:

"It's beautiful out there in the morning with the sun peeping through the pine trees, although it's certainly a rugged going. Some of the men soldiers doubted that we girls could take it. I guess we're showing them!"

In any case it's rugged enough to work up an appetite, make the girls more self-reliant and put them in fine physical condition.

Letters From The People

'No Picnic'

Dear Editor:

Regarding the article about the two lost Cornell boys in the paper Sept. 12, we want to say the writer was either misinformed or wanted to impress others that it was an exciting adventure — which it was not.

The truth of the matter was this: The boys went to the woods and got lost. They tramped up one trail and then another. When it grew dark they became frightened and got all the more tangled up. They came to the Ford River and when they could go no further they rested a little.

In the morning the State Police were called and all the neighbors called upon to help in the search. One state trooper came in and radioed for more men. But we went out and started in the direction we went out and started in the direction we thought we heard a call come from.

The neighbors were all at the house willing to go into the woods to search.

Walter Fleury and Clarence Jensen went into the woods at another point in order to help search the swamp. The trooper had the others wait in order to be on hand when the other men would arrive.

The children had no shelter of any kind and were very glad when we came upon them. The woods were so dense that we were tangled up ourselves. It took us one hour and 10 minutes to work our way out.

The reason we are writing this is that other children won't think it was a picnic and try the same thing. And also it was no picnic hunting in all that swamp and brush in the rain.

Thank you for publishing this to set the story straight, we remain,

Paul Ring and Alvin Frizell.

While young Americans are sacrificing their lives and their youth to help us appreciate the value of liberty, we could at least pay tribute to them by giving up part of our national sovereignty and national egoism.—Enzo Glacchio, Italian member of council of Europe.

Good Evening ...

By CLINT DUNATHAN

THE GOOD SHOWING—Delta county recently hit the headlines all over the state because of the accomplishments of Delta county 4-H club members. It is the kind of publicity that is encouraging in these days of war and crime and violence.

Who said that good news is never in the headlines?

For out of the Delta county 4-H clubs came stories of hard-working, clean-living young people who won recognition because of the good work they are doing. Front page stories and pictures accompanied announcements that they had won honors at the Michigan 4-H State Show, held at Michigan State college in East Lansing.

Recognition for outstanding work in 4-H projects is indeed an honor. And the honors won by Delta county young people is reflected to the benefit of their clubs, their leaders, and the county as a whole.

TOPS IN STATE—For the first time in the memory of local 4-H club people the Upper Peninsula this year had a member who won a top individual spot at the state 4-H show.

That winner was Miss Mary Del Chartrand of Escanaba, who was named state champion in dress revue.

Competition among 4-H club girls in dress revue is particularly keen. This is to be expected because of the natural feminine interest in attractive clothing and in sewing. In dress revue the girls not only make the outfits as part of their 4-H clothing project work — they also model them in revue.

Good posture, graceful movement, and personality must be combined with an attractive self-made costume to win recognition in dress revue.

WINNING A TRIP—It is indicative of the spirit of 4-H that winners of awards do not receive cash. Prize money is quickly spent. But an educational tour, a trophy, or even a ribbon award is something that brings lasting satisfaction.

This feeling is expressed by Fred McFadden of Cornell, winner at the 4-H State Show of an award trip to the Toronto Exhibition. Fred won his award on the basis of achievement booth at the State Show and he comments:

"This state achievement booth contest is a worthwhile goal, and I would like to urge every 4-H member interested in it to keep up their records and work for it."

Four achievement booth winners were awarded trips to the Toronto Exhibition, (or Canadian National Exposition), and four a trip to Washington, D. C. Fred describes the Toronto trip in detail and reports that the Michigan group accidentally met Ben Westrate, assistant state 4-H club leader in the U. P., in a restaurant where they ate along the way. Ben has been awarded a scholarship at Syracuse (N. Y.) university and he and Mrs. Westrate were on their way East. Ben will return to the U. P. after a one-year leave of absence.

SEEING THE SIGHTS—Besides the Exhibition—nearly comparable to a World's Fair, said Fred McFadden—the touring 4-H members saw many sights in Toronto. But in his opinion the Exhibition program featuring Danny Kaye, fireworks, and an aerial show, was rivaled by a natural wonder—Niagara Falls. They saw the falls on their way home.

SHOWING THE WAY—Mel Nyquist, Delta 4-H agent, tells me there are approximately 700 boys and girls enrolled in 4-H work in Delta county.

Clubs are to be found in every community. Boys and girls work and play together in 4-H and in addition carry out much of their project work at home—including gardening, clothing, calf and dairy, food preparation, tractor, and even conservation and good grooming.

The time is passing when 4-H clubs will be found only in the rural sections of the county. A growing number of boys and girls are organizing and enjoying club activities in the cities.

The 4-H success and growth is good news; a hopeful sign for the future of our young people.

Into The Past

10 YEARS AGO

Escanaba—The rush for marriage licenses continued yesterday at the county clerk's office, with five applications being made as follows: Ione Winchester of Wells, and Thomas Harvey of Escanaba; Frederick Rudolph Kelter and Mary Ann Rodman of Escanaba; Edward F. Farrell of Washington, D. C., and Phyllis Ann LaPine of Gladstone; Gilbert Larson of Gwinn, and Esther Nyberg of Gladstone; and Glen Moreau, Brampton, and Fern Herman of Niagara.

Lisbon—British informants arriving here by plane from London declared today a small-scale German attempt at a landing somewhere along the English coast last week was beaten off with heavy losses to the would-be invaders.

20 YEARS AGO

Escanaba—Escanaba will be represented at the Northern State Teachers' college during the coming school year by a group of seven students. They are Don Anderson, Laverne Cayen, Alice Cox, Beatrice Perron, Elizabeth Taylor, Grace Way and Roland Gleisner.

Chicago—An ancient pair of Egyptian dice, dating from Cleopatra's day, has been received by the Field Museum. They may have been good dice in their day, if the schedule of points in the games the Egyptians played was different, but they couldn't be used by moderns with profit. Experimentally rolling the antiquarian "bones" before they were placed on exhibition, museum authorities discovered that they turned up with unusual frequency on the numbers two and five, known to dieing artists as "snake eyes" and "little phoebe;" both points of considerable ill-omen and disheartening consequences.

Elaine Rademacher,
Roman Feltes
Married Today

A gown of ivory Japanese silk was worn by Alice Elaine Rademacher of Hines, Ill., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul H. Rademacher for her wedding this morning to Roman Feltes of Arcadia, Wis., son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry Feltes. The marriage was solemnized at 9 at St. Joseph's church by Father Patrick McArron, O. F. M.

The gown was styled with a velvet bertha at the U neckline, long sleeves tapering to a point and a full skirt edged with velvet which formed a train. A seed pearl tiara held the bride's fingertip veil of illusion in place. She wore a single strand of pearls as her only jewelry and she carried a bridal bouquet of white gladioli and baby mums.

Identical gowns of turquoise blue taffeta were worn by her attendants, Miss Jean Rademacher of Hines, who was maid of honor, and Misses Bernice and Mickey Rademacher of Milwaukee and Miss Bernice Feltes of Winona, Minn., the bridesmaids. Matching bonnet brims and elbow length mitts completed their costumes. The maid of honor carried white baby mums and bronze chrysanthemums and the bridal aides, bronze chrysanthemums and yellow daisy mums.

Cousins Are Soloists
Mrs. Rademacher wore a navy suit with navy accessories and a corsage of pink gladioli for her daughter's wedding.

Marcel Feltes of Arcadia served as best man for his cousin and ushering the guests to their places were Patrick Gaffney of Marinette and David Rademacher of Milwaukee.

Yellow and white gladioli were used in the altar decorations advancement night, and a special memorial is scheduled. Members of the Stephenson chapter will be guests. Refreshments will be served by a committee with Mrs. Silas McMartin chairman.

for the wedding service. Soloists of the mass of St. Joseph's choir were Miss Doris Costley and Miss Barbara Skopp. At the offertory Mrs. Ray Olson sang "Ave Maria," at the communion "Panis Angelicus" was sung by Bernard Ammel and at the close of the service Mrs. Elmer Bonitas sang "On This Day Oh Beautiful Mother." All three are cousins of the bride. The traditional bridal processional and recessional were played by Miss Eva Cossette, organist-director.

The wedding breakfast for members of the bridal party and immediate family members was served in St. Joseph's hall. Yellow and white gladioli arranged with ferns formed the decorative theme for the breakfast with the tiered wedding cake centering the bridal table. Multicolored gladioli corsages were at each place. The reception for neighbors and friends is being held this afternoon from 2 to 5 at the home of the bride's parents, 709 Third avenue south.

If he can't locker in his arms, Every GI will tell you how his foot locker was filled with pictures of those he loved (and if there was room, a pinup of Grable!) But places of honor went to Mom and his best girl. It's hard to see the boys going away again! The least you can do is to be sure he has a fine photograph of you. The Selkirk-Smith Studio at 801 1st Ave. St. will please you with their artistic workmanship. Better phone 128 for an appointment right now!

WHEN the little girl said her Sunday School teacher was going to throw her in the furnace, Mama investigated. Found out the teacher had said if they were absent three times they'd be dropped from the register! Which brings us to the subject of heaters at the Petersen Furniture Shop. A very special deal on right now with a new shipment of Super Flame Oil Heaters. A $34.95 fan blower (blows heat in winter, cool air in summer) will be given FREE with every Super Flame Heater. The heaters are equipped with a fuel saver to cut fuel consumption, so here's a double savings. Get hot and save some cool cash at Petersen's, soon!

CAN auld acquaintance be forgot? "No!" shout the stream of women who are hustling to the Escanaba Beauty Shop. "Have you heard the news? LaVerne's back!" Joining the talented crew at the shop again, LaVerne has stepped back into the job and her customers hope it's permanent! Ralph is in the know on the latest haircuts to keep you ahead of the crowd. You can wave hair troubles goodbye and be all set for a carefree future if you'll make an appointment at the Escanaba Beauty Shop now!

IT took inventory of the family accidents! Broken! Mom's favorite wedding gift vase; the springs in Dad's easy chair; Junior's wagon. It was a Fine Friday when I returned from Ted's Fix-it Shop with everything repaired. You can have quick, reasonable service there too. You'll find Ted at 1626 Ludington, or as near as your telephone—call 477.

ALL Junior wants for Christmas are his two front teeth, but I doubt if you can get away that easily with the rest of the family! Dad has his eye on a new Ronson cigarette lighter since Junior filled his old one with molasses! Mom wants a Toast-master—Sis needs a watch. That fellow out on Lake Shore Drive who set up a Christmas tree this summer wasn't so far off at that. Planning your Christmas gifts this far ahead is what you always said you'd do! Garrard Jewelers make it so easy for you with their Layaway Plan. No down payment is necessary! Just choose the gifts you want to buy, and they are "laid away"—you start paying on them as you wish and come up to Christmas debt free, giving the kind of gifts that will always be remembered — gifts from Garrard's!

THEY'RE shadow boxing at the Photo Art Shop! I had a ring side seat for a display of two new kinds of shadow box plaques. In a bright red or a lime green frame are two darling Chinese boy and girl figures. They look like a fine pottery but are actually metal—only $1.95. Smaller plaster plaques with the shadow box framing colorful fruit and flower decorations are just $1.75.

THEY say "You've got to be a football hero to get along with a beautiful girl", but once she's seen you in the smart tuxedo twill surcoat from Ward's, she'll be glad to sit beside you to watch the game. Water repellent, quilted lining, and a mouton collar for only $11.95. You'll score, too, in the full pile lined storm coat in gray or tan gab. Mouton collar—only $41.95 at Ward's!

THE new pin ups at Eden's Gift Shop are getting so much attention you'd think they were girls instead of lamps! The smart lines of the solid brass bases (acquired so they won't tarnish) make these pin up lamps something to light up about. One that is especially clever can do double duty—a hinge in the base allows it to serve either straight as a table lamp, or bent to hang from the wall. Another little lamp has a brass shade, and hanging from the base is a small brass planter. These eye catching pin ups at Eden's have everything.

HONEST injun! How am I ever going to convince you how much I like my new Smith-Corona portable when you know this is an ad? Wish you could see the smile on my face when I sit down to write these days. You should see how fast I set the new margin tabs, and the lightning fast touch that speeds along the Buy Lines almost faster than I can think them up. Now I know why an independent survey of typewriter dealers showed that they prefer Smith-Corona 2 to 1. Stop in at the Office Supply Co. to see the streamlined Smith-Corona in its soft grey finish and snappy black case it's tons!

The Potsdam

A Ranch Type
House Of Pleasing
Originality

Rooms Five
Bedrooms Two
Closets Five
Cubage 13,800 feet
House 26' x 42'
Garage 20' x 20'

Low slung and simple in design.

"The Potsdam" contains five spacious rooms plus a porch or breezeway which could easily be converted into a sixth room, if desired. You'll like the room layout of this modified ranch house for it is designed for informal, modern living.

Narrow glass panels, each containing eight small panes, flank the front door and enhance the attractiveness of the entrance. The single glass pane in the door itself, the small lamps at either side of the door and the wrought iron grille work at either side of the single step all add to the friendly appeal of this front entrance.

"The Potsdam" alone measures 26x42 feet with an additional 30 feet required for the breezeway and garage. The house has a cubage of 13,800 feet while the two-car garage has a cubage of 6,000 feet. A 100-foot minimum width lot is recommended for the house and garage.

Entry Hall
The front door opens into a good sized entry hall with a spacious closet at its further end. Open archways from the entry hall connect with the dining room at the right, the living room at the left.

Occupying almost the entire width of the house, the living room is located at the left end of the house and measures 20 x 11'4". The large picture window, flanked by the narrow casement windows, brings the out-of-doors into the living room, enables you to take advantage of any view, to reap extra benefits from your own yard and to plan your decorative scheme accordingly.

Two windows in the side wall and the French doors, flanked by narrow casement windows, opening on the piazza bring more light and sunshine into the living room and add further to the spacious, open and uncluttered appearance of the room. The piazza can be screened or glassed if desired.

Even with the abundance of windows there's still sufficient unbroken wall space for the convenient and attractive arrangement of large furniture pieces.

Separated by the all-modern bath, containing both a tub and a built-in shower, both bedrooms measure 11'4"x11'. The bedroom nearest to the living room has double windows in the back wall and another window in the side wall, facing the porch. With its back to the bathroom, the spacious bedroom closet is right beside a smaller closet that opens on the central hallway and which would make an ideal linen closet.

The second bedroom has windows on two exposures to provide good cross ventilation as well as sufficient light. This room also has a spacious clothes closet which is located in back of the cellar stairway.

Forming a semi-circle in the front wall of the room, the bay window with its numerous small panes is the center of decorative attraction in the dining room. Be sure to take advantage of this unusually ornate window in planning both interior decoration and furniture placement in this room. You'll find that this rounded bay forms the ideal setting for your dining room table and chair set.

With every inch planned to simplify the jobs involved in serving family meals, the 12' x 10' kitchen is well lighted by two windows, and by the door, which is partially glassed, leading to the porch or breezeway. Arranged in a convenient U-shape the working counters, complete with cabinets above and cupboards below, are so placed that the refrigerator is located at one end of the working counters with the stove at the other end; the sink is in the middle, under the window looking out on the front yard. The breakfast nook can be located against the back wall where it is out of the working area of the kitchen yet conveniently close for serving.

Measuring 11' x 9', the porch or breezeway can be glassed in or screened and forms a convenient passageway to the garage—especially in cold and stormy weather. Blueprints Available

Some First Aid Tips For Stubbish Doors

A home owner is plagued many times by doors that refuse to close. The door may have sagged a trifle so that it binds. A carpenter can reset the hinges and perhaps plane the sticking places a little so that it will be freer swinging.

Too much planing is not advisable, however, since allowance should be made for shrinking as well as swelling. If the wood has swollen because of dampness, all edges of the door should be given a coat of paint or varnish, depending on what the finish is.

Large entrance doors frequently sag because hinges are not large enough, or because there are only two hinges instead of three.

Price Brothers Doing Well With Pre-Fabs

"THRIFT HOME" Two bedrooms for $5100—plus land.

By NEA Service
LAFAYETTE, Ind.—(NEA)—A pair of enterprising young Indians are well on their way toward boosting the manufacture of prefabricated homes into the big business arena. Ever since federal authorities tried to spur output of low-cost "pre-fabs" in the early postwar days, many companies have been struggling vainly to make a sizeable dent in the housing market. Only in the last year have a few begun to achieve real progress.

One of those is the National Homes Corp., headed by the Price brothers, James and George. Starting with a small plant here in 1940, these two have hiked production to a present 28 houses a day—140 a week—and are promising to more than triple that figure in two years.

National Homes has shipped more than 17,000 houses during its brief lifetime, and claims to be the world's largest maker of pre-fabs. Whether true or not, the firm now is producing nearly a third of U. S. output.

The cost of their product seems to be a big factor in the Price brothers' success. Their two-bedroom "thrift home" sells for $5100—within range of the family earning only $40 a week. They turn out a three-bedroom model for $6300. Cost of the lot is not included.

Says James Price, company president: "The market is limitless. We are building for people who now live in trailer camps, attics and basements."

The government would agree that the market for homes in this price bracket is wide. Housing officials regularly call on the building industry to turn out a $6000 "economy" house that will tap the broad mass demand. National Homes produces its dwellings in room-sized sections, with plywood the chief material for exterior and interior walls. Unassembled pre-fabs are shipped from the factory in specially designed trailers which operate over a 500-mile radius. More distant shipments can be made by rail—two houses to a car.

The company now offers customers 16 different exterior designs, eight each for the two-bedroom and three-bedroom models.

A major sticker in expanding pre-fab production has always been dealer trouble. Too often dealers have found it impossible to finance the purchase of enough units to get into business on a large scale.

National Homes gets around this problem by using its 150-man dealer organization to solicit orders before the houses are built in the plant. Thus, dealers do not have to pay for units they may not be able to sell.

Rather than accumulate a backlog of unsold pre-fabs, dealers focus their resources on developing community areas. They install sewers and other utilities put down streets and sidewalks and landscaping.

Erection of prefabs in community groups is relatively new. National Homes soon will start building a 600-unit project at Columbus, O. It has already put up 1000 in Indianapolis and 500 each in Fort Wayne and South Bend, Ind. Many are gathered in compact neighborhood settings.

Fifteen years ago James Price quit farming for a $75 a month job with a defunct bank. He got into real estate through his work in disposing of the bank's property holdings. From there it was a short stride to creating National Homes in 1940 with a meager $12,500 capital.

The war gave the company a big push into healthy production. Between 1941 and 1945 National Homes built 7500 units for war workers and military personnel. With the capital amassed in this period, the Price brothers were ready for an ambitious try when peace came. Their early postwar houses sold well, but they felt the $7000-$10,000 price was too high.

Hence was born the present "thrift home" in late 1948. It offers a 12 x 16 living room, kitchen with built-in sink and cabinets, utility room with water heater and wall furnace, considerable storage and closet space.

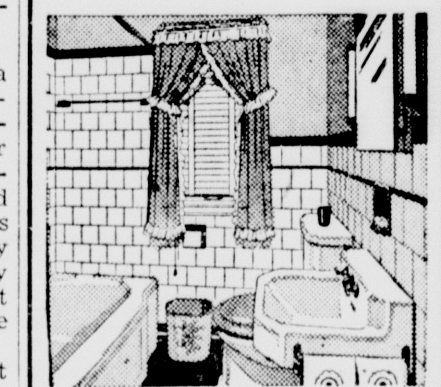

The Reconstruction Finance Corporation granted National Homes a $6,500,000 working credit in 1947 but thus far the company has borrowed only $2,000,000 against it. "The Prices say the business is sound. But they expect rising production to necessitate further borrowings of at least $800,000.

The Price team wants to reach into the rich housing markets of the Pacific coast and the Atlantic seaboard. They claim they can ship a house to Los Angeles for $300 and still undersell competitors by $1000. And they're talking of establishing a branch plant in New York state this spring.

Those efforts to spread nationwide may be the real test whether prefabricated housing is at last to make the grade as big business.

The ostrich can cover 25 feet or more at one stride and run as fast as 60 miles an hour.

The house in the above photo was hit more than three feet off its foundation by a mid-west tornado—yet not one Durl-Coverage Tite-On Shingle came loose!

Every storm brings new evidence of Tite-On's windproof superiority. The secret: Each Tite-On Shingle interlocks with adjacent shingles at four points and is anchored by concealed nails at four points! Assembled, they make virtually a one-piece roof. Durl-Coverage Tite-Ons overlap to form two complete shingle layers—double protection, double insulation! They're easy to apply quickly. Come in and see samples, today!

Let us show you how Tite-On Shingles lock together so securely that, even without nails, they don't come apart! This view shows under side of shingles.

Dramatic Tryouts Are Slated At MHS

Tryouts for future members of the Manistique Musicals, high school dramatic club, are scheduled Monday night at the high school here.

Fifteen new members will be accepted in the club this year, Marvin Frederickson, dramatics coach, states. Officers of the Thespians, senior dramatic organization at MHS, will serve on the tryout board.

About 30 interested high school students, who maintained an average of C or better, met Friday night to receive instructions in preparation for the tryouts. Candidates for membership give dramatic sketches and interpretations during the tryouts, and the tryout board rules on acceptance in the club, after each candidate has had two tryout auditions.

Sometime this fall, possibly in November, the school dramatic clubs plan to present a three-act play. Last fall drama club members presented "We Shook the Family Tree." Seniors of the high school also present a three-act play annually.

Bill Corson is president of the Thespians; Gail Lundstrom, vice president; Lael Richards, treasurer; Lorraine Anderson, historian, and Ann Marie Sheehan, secretary. The club is affiliated with the national Thespian organization.

Miss Rachel Cayia Is Bride Today Of Fredrick Zried Jr.

White chrysanthemum blossoms and white gladioli at the communion rail and altars of St. Francis de Sales church formed the floral setting this morning for the marriage of Miss Rachel Jane Cayia, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred J. Cayia, to Frederick Leo Zried Jr., only son of Fredrick Zried of Coudersport, Penn., and Mrs. Mary M. Zried of Indianapolis.

The Rev. F. M. Scheringer performed the ceremony at 10 o'clock with J. Earl Cousineau singing the nuptial high mass and the Panis Angelicus during communion.

Miss Helen Charron, cousin of the bride, sang Gounod's Ave Maria at the offertory and Miss Geraldine Gorsche was the organist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a gown of ivory slipper satin fashioned with a fitted, buttoned bodice trimmed with a deep pointed yoke of Alencon lace and finished with long sleeves. Her full skirt terminated in a long train and her double veil of imported net hung from a Juliet cap of matching lace and seed pearls. Her white satin prayer book was adorned with a single white orchid, and from it hung trailing variegated ivy and white satin streamers bearing tiny white pompon chrysanthemums.

Breakfast at Blaney

The maid of honor, Miss Mary Anne Jones of Springfield, Ill., wore a gown of gold slipper satin with tiny cap of matching velvet. The bridesmaids, Mrs. James Ostrander, sister of the bride, and Miss Jane Moran of Lafayette, Ind., wore similar gowns in lime and hunter's green. All carried cascade bouquets of bronze chrysanthemums garlanded with ivy.

Little Michael Dean, nephew of the bride, was the ring-bearer. Frank Moynahan of Atlanta, was best man and Alfred Cayia, jr. and James Ostrander, brother and brother-in-law of the bride, were ushers.

Mrs. Cayia chose a street length gown of deep blue velvet, and matching hat for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Zried's gown was of American beauty. Both mother

Will Live In Lafayette

Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served in the private dining room at Blaney Inn to members of the family and a few guests. The bride's table was centered with an arrangement of baby chrysanthemums, asters and ivy. From this ran a band of evergreens and chrysanthemums on which the bridal attendants placed their bouquets.

From three to five o'clock a reception was held at Blaney Lodge with over 150 guests in attendance. Refreshments were served from a table decorated with white tapered candelabra, chrysanthemums and a four tiered wedding cake. The bride couple left immediately afterward on a motor trip to an undisclosed destination. For traveling young Mrs. Zried wore a gabardine suit of hunter's green with matching hat. They will be at home after October 1 at the Varsity apartments, Lafayette, Indiana.

The Guests

A rehearsal dinner for the bride and groom and a few friends was held Friday evening at eight o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Corson. It was served buffet style from a table decorated with white gladioli and wedding bells.

The bride attended Rosary College and is a graduate of the University of Michigan and of the D. T. Watson School of Physiotherapy connected with the University of Pittsburgh. She has been a kindergarten teacher in Manitowoc and Saginaw and has recently been serving as a physiotherapist at St. Elizabeth's hospital in Lafayette. Her father, A. J. Johnson's Resignation Clears Way For Acheson

By MARQUIS CHILDS
NEW YORK—Almost everyone who has talked with Secretary of State Dean Acheson during the past week or 10 days has been aware of a new air of confidence and resolution. It clearly grew out of a belief that he would be able to carry out a line of policy free of the constant nagging of a dispute that could not be resolved.

CHILDS

Now the resignation of Louis Johnson as secretary of defense has finally and publicly ended the dispute which had such a hampering and harmful influence. Coming in the midst of the big three foreign ministers' meeting and on the eve of the sessions of the north Atlantic council and the U. N. general assembly, it has caused a stir. As a member of one of the foreign delegations put it:

"It is a little odd to arrive and hear the sound of the tumbler in the air and then in the next moment to see a head rolling down the street."

Took His Medicine
But perhaps under the circumstances the president and his secretary of defense could not control the timing of the climax. In any event, the air is cleared, Johnson took his bitter medicine like a man and there is a prospect of a truly effective diplomatic-military team to carry out American policy.

On that team would be Acheson, the diplomat, and General Marshall, the soldier-statesman. Working with them as collaborator and co-ordinator would be Robert A. Lovett who served as under secretary of state when Marshall was secretary. These men know and understand each other. Their relationship would be one of mutual trust and respect, which certainly cannot be said for the condition that has just been ended with Johnson's resignation.

Inevitably, the dispute between Johnson and Acheson has been exaggerated both in kind and degree. It originated, in my opinion, in Johnson's boundless ambition which is part of a temperament that has a limitless, vaunting quality.

If a military-diplomatic team was essential to carry out foreign policy, then Johnson meant to be the dominant and determining partner. This inevitably produced clashes. It had a delaying, harassing, baleful effect on the formulation of American foreign policy.

It extended to large things and small. Thus when Prime Minister Nehru visited Washington a year ago, Johnson intervened in the arrangements. He had been sent by President Roosevelt to India in 1942 to try to reconcile the British and the Indian viewpoints as the threat of violent overthrow and a disastrous internal war seemed very real. That mission was spectacularly unsuccessful and Johnson was recalled after he had defied the Indian climate and had accordingly suffered in health.

Acheson Kept Mute
Acheson, insofar as I have been able to discover, tried very hard to avoid enlarging in any public way the Acheson-Johnson feud. On the rare occasions when he saw newspapermen privately, he refused to be nagged about Johnson or his differences with the secretary of defense.

In recent months Acheson has been exceptionally seclusive. Newspapermen have often complained that he was inaccessible. One reason may well have been that he wanted to avoid any appearance of contributing to the controversy.

His associates were under strict orders not to discuss any phase of the dispute on Capitol Hill. This was in striking contrast to the Johnson camp which busily carried the war into every theater.

In a luncheon discussion with several Democratic senators one of Acheson's most loyal subordinates disobeyed the long-standing order. This was in response to concern expressed over such a split, with its constant reverberations, as the congressional campaign approached. In two letters calling for Johnson's resignation, the freshman representative, Anthony F. Tauriello of New York, put into words what many other Democrats were thinking. The picture given by Acheson's associate showed so clearly the unhappy consequences of the division that the pressure grew to bring it to an end as quickly as possible.

Johnson spoke feelingly of the enemies he had made in 18 months as secretary of defense. Politically speaking, they were mostly among the Democrats. What he pointed out, Tauriello pointed out. His friends were for the most part among the Republicans. In part, at least, this has reflected the division over basic policy as represented by Acheson on the one hand and Johnson on the other.

It was an impossible situation in every way. Fortunately, it has been ended. Acheson's enemies will continue to cry for his scalp. But he should have a chance now to carry out the policy in which he has always believed—the strengthening of Western Europe as the heart of the western security system.

Your New Social Security

By CARL L. JOHNSON
(Manager of the Escanaba social security office)

"I was first covered by the social security law in 1950. How long will it be before I will be insured?"

That's a question our, and other social security offices are being asked every day since the amended Social Security Act became a law.

In most cases, the answer is a year and a half for survivors' insurance, longer to qualify for old-age insurance payments if you're not already aged 65 or over.

The amended law makes provision for a new benefit formula for workers retiring in the future. This formula is applicable to those who have at least six calendar quarters of coverage after 1950. Under the old law one-half the number of calendar quarters since 1936 were required quarters of coverage.

For example—a person aged 65 or over at the time the amended Social Security Act became a law, would be fully insured for benefit purposes on his sixty-fifth birthday if he had at least six quarters of coverage. That would be one-half of the elapsed quarters since 1950. Let us assume that he did not earn six quarters of coverage in that period but had earned sufficient quarters of coverage before 1950 to make a total of six. He would still be fully insured at age 65.

A "quarter of coverage" is a calendar quarter. For social security purposes the year is divided into four quarters: January through March, April through June, July through September, and October through December are calendar quarters.

As in the old law, no more than forty quarters of coverage can be required for a fully insured status and the required amount of earned wages in a calendar quarter remains at the $50 minimum. The maximum annual wages to be counted toward social security, however, has been raised from $3,000 to $3,600.

It is the six quarters of coverage provision of the new law that will give immediate or early old-age and survivors insurance protection to numbers of workers not qualified for social security before. Many people now 65 or over will be enabled to draw retirement benefit payments right away.

Some people who filed a social security claim under the old law but did not have enough social security credit to qualify them, may now be eligible for payments. We are making efforts to get in touch with all such persons in this area. Workers in groups coming under social security for the first time in January will be enabled to qualify much more quickly. In the six counties served by our field office, we expect to pay insurance benefits to 1500 more people in 1951.

Eskymos Beaten By Ironwood, 13-7, In Bruising Encounter

Coach Jim Rouman and his Eskymos were attending a football game in Iron Mountain this afternoon trying to get a line on the Mountaineers and mentally rehearsing their 13-7 defeat in a bruising battle at Ironwood last night.

Escanaba plays Iron Mountain here Oct. 14.

Even in defeat last night, the Escanaba boys covered themselves with glory.

Their inability in the first and third quarters to solve a tricky single and double reverse from the split-T cost them the game. Except for Ironwood's two touchdowns—both resulting from medium long runs—the Eskymos held the upper hand most of the way, especially in the second half. But they flubbed several good scoring chances—one on a fumble with inches to go for a score.

The Eskymos score came on a blocked punt late in the game with Paul Baldwin scoring.

The game was a titanic struggle between two mammoth high school lines.

Leppi Scores

Ironwood scored the first time it got the ball. Taking the kickoff on his own 5 yard line, speedy John Leppi, Ironwood sprinter, raced back to Escanaba's 49 before he was stopped.

Five running plays brought two first downs and put the ball on the 27 yard line. Then Quarterback Pat Cvergros handed the ball to Billy Hendrickson, who ran to the right. After drawing the Escanaba secondary that way, he slipped the ball to Leppi who raced wide to the left for the touchdown. Kick for the extra point was no good, and Ironwood lead, 6-0.

A few minutes later, Escanaba got the ball when Guard Dick Erickson intercepted an Ironwood pass and returned to near midfield.

With Bob Paterick and JoJo Johnston doing most of the ball toting the Eskymos smashed down to the Ironwood 24 yard line but the drive stalled and two passes were incomplete.

Early in the second quarter, Escanaba knocked on the Ironwood door but couldn't enter. Ironwood had been pushed back to its own 18 yard line on two penalties and an alert Escanaba line.

Still deep in its own territory, the Red Devils tossed a pass which Escanaba fullback Casper Bartley snagged and bulled his way back to the Ironwood five yard line.

Bartley Injured

Bartley was injured on the play and had to be taken out. Dick Johnston, Eskymo end, was moved into the backfield.

On the second Eskymo smash at the line, Paterick carried the ball into the pile and the Eskymos let up a "whoop" when they saw him over the goal line. The officials, however, moved the ball back to the six inch line, refusing to allow the score.

On the next play, Shomin fumbled and Ironwood recovered, ending the threat. The half ended a few plays later, Ironwood leading, 6-0.

A former Munising boy, Brock Strom, Ironwood center, set up Ironwood's second touchdown when he intercepted Johnston's pass and returned to the Escanaba 33.

Four running plays made it a first down on the 21. Then on the split-T double reverse, Fullback

Oscar Franquist drove 20 yards to the one yard line. Then Cvergros, a 6-foot, 175-pound freshman, crashed through for the score. His brother, Jerry, kicked the point and Ironwood led, 13-0.

In the fourth period, Escanaba made two abortive drives that were stalled about the 20 yard line. Paterick, Johnston, Mert MacRae and Dick Cota did most of the heavy work on the drives.

With less than five minutes to go, Escanaba finally struck for its touchdown.

Shomin Blocks Punt

Leppi, back near the goal line to punt, failed to get his kick off as Shomin smashed in and blocked it with his chest. Paul Baldwin, Escanaba's other end, scooped up the loose ball and ran it across the goal line. Johnston's kick was good and the score was Ironwood 13, Escanaba 7.

In the waning minutes, Escanaba forced Ironwood to punt and Paterick made a first down on Ironwood's 33 yard line. But as the game ended, Franquist grabbed a pass intended for Shomin and returned to the Ironwood 26 yard line.

The victory was Ironwood's third of the season, Kingsford and Duluth Denfield being previous victims. The margin in all three games was two touchdowns to one. The defeat was the first of the year for Escanaba, which walloped Soo last week.

Rouman said today he considered the defeat no disgrace because Ironwood has a powerful team.

"We're not alibing but with a break or two we'd have won it," said Rouman.

The long bus trip to Ironwood upset several of the boys, and Shomin, Johnston and Jim Nyquist were ill, although all played.

Score by quarters:
Ironwood 6 0 6 0—12
Escanaba 0 0 0 7—7

Scoring:
Ironwood—touchdowns, Leppi and Pat Cvergros; extra point, Jerry Cvergros.
Escanaba—touchdown, Baldwin; extra point, Johnston.

Tigers Win Despite Mize Homers; Trout Faces Rookie Ford Today

DETROIT—(P)—Johnny Mize, massive Yankee first baseman, hammered three home runs into the right field stands yesterday but they could not prevent the Detroit Tigers from conquering New York, 9-7.

The hard-earned triumph evened the series at one game apiece and pushed the Tigers past the Yankees into first place by half a game. It marked the sixth time in the past nine days that the American league lead has changed hands.

The two top contenders were to square off this afternoon in the rubber of the three-game set.

Manager Red Rolfe named Paul (Dizzy) Trout (13-4), a 35-year-old right-hander, to pitch the big one for Detroit. Casey Stengel, Yankee skipper, countered with 21-year-old rookie Southpaw Eddie (Whitely) Ford (6-0). Trout holds two wins over New York. Ford was to make his first start against the Bengals.

It's Sixth Time

Mize, who missed a chance to write his name on another page of baseball's record book when he fanned his fourth time at bat, now has hit three homers in one game six times. Singularly, his mates won only one of those games.

"I guess I'll have to stop hitting three homers in a game," big John said. "It seems to jinx the club. We won only one of the six games in which I hit three homers."

Win or lose, Mize's terrific one-man batting rampage places him in a class by himself. His nearest competitors in the three-homer derby include Joe DiMaggio, Ted Williams, Ralph Kiner, Lou Gehrig and Goose Goslin. Each has done it three times. Six players, including Brooklyn's Gil Hodges this year, have hit four homers in a game.

All three of Mize's blows were tremendous blasts, and came in successive times at bat. All were hit against 18-game winner Art Houtteman. The Georgian now owns 23 homers.

Borowy Is Hero

Veteran right-hander Hank Borowy did a splendid relief job for the winners. He is a one-time Yankee.

Borowy replaced Houtteman in the sixth and hurled scoreless, one-hit ball for four innings to receive credit for the victory. It was his first as a Tiger. He has lost one.

Every Tiger starter except the pitcher, shared in their run production. Gerry Priddy and Vic Wertz were the principle siege guns.

Wertz walked three times, batted a double and triple, scored three times and batted in a run. Priddy opened the Bengal scoring against erstwhile Tiger killer Tommy Byrne with a two-run homer in the first inning. He also singled and walked.

The Tigers were forced to come from behind twice. Trailing 7-6 in the sixth, they rapped loser Albie Reynolds and Tom Ferrick. For four hits and three runs to forge ahead to stay.

Yea, Boy!

TOO CLOSE FOR COMFORT—Owners Dan Topping, left, and Del Webb and Manager Casey Stengel watch their Yankees from the dugout in batting practice with worried expressions.

Star Phillie Hurler Gets Face Smashed

PHILADELPHIA —(P)—Young Bubba Church, victim of a wicked smash to the face by a batted ball, may be lost to the Philadelphia Phillies for the rest of the season. He is to undergo plastic surgery today.

Church, who turned 25 Tuesday, is a fast-balling right-handed pitcher with an 8-4 record and one of the leading candidates for rookie of the year in the National league.

Facing the Cincinnati Reds last night in the first game of a doubleheader, church was pitching to Ted Kluszewski in the third inning when tragedy struck.

Kluszewski slammed a pitch right at Church's head.

Blood spurted from just below Church's left eye. He was rushed to the hospital where today his condition was listed as "favorable."

There was no fracture, but four stitches were required to close the nasty gash beneath his eye.

Owner Bob Carpenter said Church will be in the hospital four or five days and may be out of action "two weeks or more."

The season ends in two weeks.

Labor Government Takes Over British Steel Mills Jan. 1

LONDON —(P)—The Labor government announced it will take over the British steel industry about Jan. 1.

Winston Churchill, the Conservative leader, promptly declared he would ask the House of Commons to adopt a virtual motion of censure. The motion will be debated next Tuesday. If passed, it might lead Prime Minister Attlee to resign and ask for a new national election.

In view of its hairline majority in commons—now only five votes—the Labor government had been expected until recently to let the explosive steel issue lie dormant for at least a few months.

Mae Murray Favored Over Pasadena Girl

ATLANTA —(P)—Pert Mae Murray, 24 years old and five-time winner of the Vermont state title, faced Beverly Hanson of Pasadena, Calif., in the finals of the national women's amateur golf tournament today.

Miss Murray won the role of tournament favorite with a succession of victories over Fay Crocker of Montevideo, Uruguay, Dot Kietly of Long Beach, Calif., and yesterday's semi-final 3-2 decision over Helen Sigel, the Philadelphia linkster who has twice been runner-up in this tournament.

Miss Hanson moved into the finals with a close one-up victory over Grace De Moss, winner of the Canadian open in 1949 and runner-up this year.

Spilling The Dope

By Charlie Larson

"Open those pearly gates, Old Timers. I'm coming in!"

With those words, popular A. A. (Bill) Doucette, perennial Escanaba softball pitching star, announced that old Father Time is catching up with him.

Bill, a youngster of 47, announced at the Escanaba Softball association banquet Thursday night, that he could feel his age in this year's National league competition. So next year he's going to play with the Old Timers.

The announcement was hardly out of his mouth when Fr. Stephen Schneider of the St. Joe Boosters team in the Old Timers league said: "Bill, see me after the banquet. I've got a contract all made out for you to sign."

Banqueteers (if there be such a word) filled the huge Legion hall. It was one of the finest sports banquets held here in years.

Fr. Stephen came up with a couple good laughs. Talking about St. Joe's lack of reserves and size, he said Coach Tom St. Germain would have to be like a coach in a similar situation. He told his boys before the game:

"Go in there and play hard but don't get hurt. Because you'll have to play anyway!"

Speaking of losing games, Fr. Stephen said Paul Brown, coach of the Cleveland Browns football team hates to lose so much that he gets angry at his captain when he loses the toss of the coin before the game!

Commissioner Paul Vardigan drew a chuckle when he said: "There were less complaints from the boys this year than in a long time. Guess they must be tired kicking."

The Daily Press' "own" Chippy Benadin got a big hand when the master of ceremonies lauded him for his early efforts in behalf of softball in Escanaba.

You can tell the boys appreciate the work of Jens Jensen. He was given a rousing hand when introduced.

"The Rev" Schabow let out a yell when the boys steamrolled him back as president of the league. "Just wait till my wife hears this," he said. "The Rev" has done a swell job this year.

Denny McGinn, the "grandfather" of softball in Escanaba, paid tribute to old timers who helped push the game in the early years, notably Earl Haddy.

Bill Puckelwartz was there—but he used most of his time lining up Phil Brazeau for his bowling team! Bill said he knew it was time for him to quit football officiating when he found himself wanting to jump into the stands and punch every fan who "badgered" him on decisions.

For three hours, game rivalries were forgotten and fellowship abounded. It was a swell meeting.

Browns, Eagles Clash Tonight

PHILADELPHIA, Pa.—(P)—The unusual picture of two teams fighting for a championship on opening day will be unfolded tonight when the Cleveland Browns and Philadelphia Eagles match football speed, brawn and brains.

True, it's only a mythical title these teams will be battling for before an anticipated 75,000 fans at Municipal stadium, but it will be real enough for the players. They understand that the winner will be recognized universally as world's professional football champion.

This opener of the 31st National football league season brings together for the first time the Eagles, two-time winners of the NFL title, and the Browns, four-year champions of the defunct All America conference. It is the football game fans have talked about ever since the two leagues made peace last winter.

Sunday games are: Chicago Bears at Los Angeles; Detroit at Green Bay, New York Giants at Pittsburgh, New York Yanks at San Francisco and Washington at Baltimore.

Big Ten Teams Get Heavy Work

CHICAGO —(P)—With the season opening two weeks away, Big Ten football coaches today really began cracking the whip in practice.

Most of them planned full-dress scrimmages under game conditions to determine who was who on their varsity outfits.

Michigan's co-champion Wolverines were scheduled for their first secret drill. Only sports writers will be allowed to witness the workout under game conditions in Michigan's mammoth stadium.

Purdue offered a preview to Boiler-maker partisans in a regulation intrasquad game. The Whites, composed of the first three teams, will collide with the Gold Reserves, bolstered by incoming freshmen.

Like Michigan, Indiana's Hoosiers had a secret, full-scale intrasquad contest on tap. Northwestern also planned a "shake-down" contest, although a half dozen Wildcats are crippled.

Minnesota, Illinois, Iowa, Wisconsin and Ohio State also were expected to have scrimmage sessions of varying intensity.

Outside the conference, Notre Dame was booked to take on the newly-arrived freshmen under game conditions, Michigan State had a game-length scrimmage on tap and Marquette was set for a "family" contest.

Yesterday's Big Ten practice highlights:

Halfback Tom Rendler broke his hand and sophomore Harland Carl, also a halfback, fractured a thumb in Wisconsin's drill.

Jerry Van Ooyen, Al Tuttle and Arnold Bowman, and sophomores Willie Dozier and Dick Olson performed well at fullback for Indiana.

Dick Strozewski, Michigan sophomore tackle from South Bend, Ind., suffered recurrence of a leg injury.

Munn Gives His Gridders 'Shakedown'

EAST LANSING—(P)—The make or break time for a starting berth on Michigan State college's football team arrived today.

Coach Biggie Munn sent his 64-man squad through a game-type "secret" scrimmage session in the stadium this afternoon.

It looms the final big shakedown before the opening game with Oregon State here Sept. 23—one week away.

In the line, Center Dick Tamburo will be flanked—offensively—by an all-veteran forward wall consisting of Bob Carey and either Donnie Dibble or Hank Minarik at the ends, Don Coleman and Bill Horell at tackles and John Voeca and John Tobin at guards.

The chief backfield battle appears to be between Sophomores Vince Pisano and Ray Vogt as right halfback. Indications are that Al Dorsey will go at quarterback, Carl Leroy Crane at fullback, and Sonny Grandelius at left half.

Ted Williams Back In Top Form; Smashes Out Homer

(By The Associated Press)

Baseball's lean hitting perfectionist, Ted Williams, is back in the firing line for the Boston Red Sox, forcing abrand new appraisal of the neck-and-neck American league pennant race.

The willowy slugger, out of regular action since July 11, may provide just the impetus that is needed for Steve O'Neill's old pros to overhaul Detroit and New York in the mad dash down the stretch.

Williams' big bat boomed like old times yesterday. He smashed a three-run homer and three singles to crack an eight-game winning streak of the upstart St. Louis Browns, 12-9, and to move Boston within 1½ games of the leading Tigers.

Boston's half-step up the ladder was aided by developments at Detroit where the Tigers, behind the excellent relief pitching of the veteran Hank Borowy, turned back the New York Yankees, 9-7, Williams' impressive comeback a game apiece.

The vital "rubber" game was scheduled today with the Yankees sending out their phenomenal young rookie star, Eddie Ford (6-0), to recapture the lead they lost to Detroit. The Tigers countered with Dizzy Trout (13-4).

19 Inning Game

The Red Sox, meanwhile, sent Walter Masterson (8-5) against the Browns' Cliff Fanning (4-8) at St. Louis. The Red Sox move into Detroit Sunday for two games.

Williams' impressive comeback after more than two months on the shelf with an elbow fracture was just one of the highlights of a news-making baseball Friday. Other unusual happenings included:

1. The Philadelphia Phillies had to go 19 innings, longest game of the season, to wrest the second half of their doubleheader victory from Cincinnati. The regulation first game was won, 2-1, and the second, 8-7, pushing the Phils 7½ games in front of Brooklyn.

2. Big John Mize of the Yankees poled three home runs in New York's losing effort at Detroit and broke his own major league record for the number of times the feat has been turned in a single game. He has now hit three home runs on six occasions.

3. Plate Umpire Dusty Boggess twice reversed himself on a play at home at Ebbetts Field, causing the Brooklyn Dodgers to protest their 6-2 loss to St. Louis.

New Stars To Perform At Packer-Lion Tilt

GREEN BAY—Three of the nation's most publicized college stars of 1949 will make their professional football debuts when the Green Bay Packers and Detroit Lions launch the 1950 National Football league season here Sunday afternoon.

The Lions will carry two of the big lights—Doak Walker, Southern Methodist's All-American halfback, and Leon Hart, the 270-pound pass-receiving and defensive end from Notre Dame.

The Packers' "name" ace is Clayton Tonnemaker of Minnesota—a 250-pound stick of dynamite on defense. Tonnemaker, Walker and Hart made virtually every All-American team last fall—certainly all of the big selections.

Walker, a single wing back at SMU, has been installed at left halfback in Coach Bo McMillan's Detroit T-formation. Walker's talents as a passer, pass receiver, runner and place kicker were utilized in the Lions' 24-16 victory over the Chicago Cardinals last Saturday night.

Hart, a football giant at Notre Dame for three years, is capable of playing both defense and offense. For a big man, he moves fast enough to catch passes in the major leagues, according to McMillan. Big Hart, out of the last two games with an ankle injury, will be ready for Sunday.

Tonnemaker was a standout in his first professional game—a non-league affair with the Chicago Cardinals Aug. 16.

The big backer-up consistently made tackles at the line of scrimmage—wide and in close. On one occasion he bustled through the line and caught the fleet Elmer Angsman from behind—at the line of scrimmage.

Another interesting battle will be waged at quarterback between Veteran Bobby Layne, the former Chicago Bear, and the Packers' brilliant rookie, Tobin Rote.

the left field wall with the bases loaded in the 19th to win the long second game for the Phils. Andy Seminick's 23rd home run won the opener for Philadelphia.

We'll Be Tough Now, Rolfe Says After Win

DETROIT—(P)—"The others are going to have to work fast to catch us," grinned Detroit Tiger Manager Red Rolfe after the 9-7 Bengal victory over the New York Yankees yesterday.

"We're out in front again, and from here on in, they're going to have to catch us," Rolfe declared as the team staged a rousing dressing room celebration.

"We proved that we're a fighting ball club. Any time a team can survive the kind of home run hitting Johnny Mize did against us out there, it's got a lot of spirit. I think that the win over the Yankees is going to help our morale a lot."

St. Joseph Gridders Entertain Florence, Wis., Tonight At 8

Was St. Joe's victory over Gladstone a "flash in the pan" or do the Trojans "really have it" this year?

Another part of the answer to that question—burning in the minds of St. Joe's ardent fans—may result from tonight's game at Memorial field when Coach Tom St. Germain's speedy gridders meet Florence, Wis. The game is scheduled to start at 8 o'clock.

The Wisconsin outfit is an unknown quantity, this being its first game in two years. Last year the school dropped football after a heavy run of serious injuries.

12 Lettermen
However, Florence, coached by O. J. Spigarelli, has 12 players who were lettermen when the team was playing two years ago. It is reported the Badgers have plenty of speed and weight.

The St. Joseph team suffered a heavy loss this week in practice when Jim Gravelle, stellar end who was a tower of defensive strength against Gladstone last week, suffered an arm fracture. He will be out for the rest of the season.

In his place, St. Germain has shifted Keith Osier, a senior who has looked aggressive in practice.

Lineups Given
The starting St. Joe lineup probably will find Bob Sendenbergh or Bill Baker at quarter, Pete Kutches and Don Paulin at halves, John Martinec or Fred Paddy at fullback, Osier and Jack Courneane at ends, Jim Casbin and Harlon Penin at tackles, Bob Pepin and Tom Brien at guards and Wayne Desneanu at center.

Florence will start R. Dumke at quarter, W. Roblehaud and R. Roberts at halves, D. Dumke at fullback, J. Winkler and J. Weier at ends, R. Berman and E. Friebert at tackles, P. Dunkel and W. Scheber at guards and H. Whalen at center.

Bark River Wins In Last 50 Seconds

ROCK—The Little Giants had a 7-0 victory in their grasp with 70 seconds to go and the ball in their possession here yesterday—and they blew it.

Deep in their own territory after having throttled a Bark River-Harris drive on their 11 yard line, Rock tossed a third-down pass instead of punting and it was picked out of the air by a Bark River linebacker, who returned it to the Rock 15 yard line.

With 50 seconds to play, Bark River quarterback Dale Erickson tossed a pass to end Francis Bartozek, who scampered across the line for the game winning touchdown. A plunge for the extra point failed and Bark River won the first game of the season for the two schools by a 12-7 score.

Made Both Scores

The same pass combination scored Bark River's first touchdown late in the first quarter, this time on a 24 yard scoring play, shortly after Bartozek had blocked a Rock punt. Again the plunge for the extra point failed.

That point failure loomed large throughout most of the rest of the game after two Rock passes, Dennis Harju to End Bill Westlund and to End Edwin Johnson had scored Rock's touchdown in the second quarter. Rock made good its extra point on a plunge by Harju and the Little Giants led the rest of the way until they tossed the game away with victory in their grasp.

Coach Victor Manekiewicz's boys pretty well dominated play in the third quarter and, largely on the strength of Harju's passes to Westlund and Johnson, they drove down to Bark River's 14 yard line before the husky Bark River line stalled the drive.

Lots of Action

At that point, Coach George Lebrasseur's boys caught fire. With short, steady, line-pounding gains, they smashed all the way across the field in the fourth quarter and appeared headed for a touchdown when two penalties—one for offside and the second for too much time in the huddle—and an aroused Rock defense brought the drive to a stop on the 11 yard line.

It was three plays later that Rock tossed the pass that backfired. The two teams were evenly matched and both were surprisingly "hefty" for small schools.

Last year, the two teams split a two-game series.

Score by quarters:
Bark River 6 0 0 6—12
Rock 7 0 0 0—7

Scoring: Bark River, touchdowns, Bartozek 2.

Rock, touchdown, Johnson; extra point, Harju.

Manistique Wallops Negaunee By 27 To 0

MANISTIQUE—The Manistique Emeralds posted their second Great Lake Conference win of the season here last night, defeating Negaunee Miners by 27-0 before 2,000 football fans in A. F. Hall stadium. The Manistique gridders played "heads-up" ball and gained through the lighter Negaunee line virtually at will to accumulate 14 first downs to Negaunee's two.

Despite the Emeralds' statistical advantage of 10 first downs to none for Negaunee in the first half, both teams remained scoreless until the third quarter. Manistique rammed inside the Negaunee 30 yard line five times in the first half, but could not score because of costly penalties and several pass interceptions. Maki, Negaunee back, kicked his team out of danger more than once with long boots.

Manistique capitalized on a break in the opening seconds of the second half when Mike Schultz recovered a Negaunee fumble on the kickoff to put the Emeralds on the Negaunee 35 yard line. Three plays later Richard Burns scored on a hand-off from Bob Minor from the 15 yard line. Howard Strassler's kick was good for the extra point. Play saw-sawed in an exchange of punts for the rest of the quarter.

The fourth quarter was three minutes old when Chartier trapped Negaunee's Johnson as he went back to pass and recovered his fumble on the Negaunee 14. Manistique made a first down on the four yard line and Burns was over on the next play, making the score 13-0. Strassler's try for the extra tally was no good.

In the closing minutes of the game, the Emeralds' Jerry Popour snagged a deflected Negaunee pass on the eight to score. Strassler's kick made the score 20-0. With but eight seconds remaining, Manistique's substitute center, Bill Corson, intercepted a Negaunee pass from Ferrah and ran from the Negaunee 20 for a final score. Strassler again made the

Cross Country Squad Signed

MANISTIQUE—Eleven runners, including two lettermen from last year's team, have been accepted on the Manistique high school cross country squad and Monday begin workouts in preparation for the U. P. meet at Escanaba Oct. 14.

Ted Corombos, cross country coach, said the team probably won't have the sparkle it did last year when the runners took second place in the U. P. meet at Iron Mountain. However, the two lettermen, Walter Scharstrom, a junior, and John Quinn, a sophomore, will do much to bolster the team.

Seven runners will be sent to the Escanaba meet.

Those on the squad thus far are Forest Wolfe, a senior; juniors Jim Monroe, Jim Schuster and Scharstrom; Bill Tufnell, Quinn, Wayne Wolfe and John Louis, sophomores; and Myron Louis, Wally Cook and Adolor LaCroix, freshmen.

Menominee, which has won the cross country for the past four years, is favored to win again this year, Corombos reports.

June Welfare Load Declines

Direct Relief Cut Below June '49

The number of cases and the cost of direct relief in Delta county in June, 1950, was below the totals for June last year, according to the latest comparative report released by the Delta county social welfare board.

There were 552 direct relief cases in the county in June of this year and the cost was $21,500.27, compared to 563 cases and a direct relief cost of $22,072.65 in June, 1949.

Direct relief is financed by state and county funds.

County welfare and hospital costs also declined from the June figure of last year: $3,949.23 in June of this year compared to $4,472.36 in June 1949.

Administrative costs in June this year were $1,883.20 compared to $1,981.97 in June a year ago.

County welfare and hospital and administrative costs are financed wholly by county funds.

The number of old age assistance, aid to dependent children, and aid to the blind cases were up slightly, as was the cost, the comparative report shows. These costs are financed equally by state and federal funds.

The total old age assistance, aid to dependent children and aid to the blind cases for June, 1950, was 1,148 cases and the cost was $57,858.40; compared to 1,041 total cases and $49,652.70 total cost for June, 1949.

Marines Plunge On Toward Seoul In Korean Pinch

Troops and equipment poured ashore. Inchon's port installations were put into operation quickly, despite the thunderous naval and air bombardment preceding the landings.

Retreat In Confusion

On the old allied beachhead, 163 mountainous miles to the southeast, the Eighth Army's big push had gained from one to three miles on a 70-mile front—from the Taegu sector to the South Korean coast.

These were the jaws of a giant nut-cracker aimed at trapping the Korean Red army between United Nations forces in the north and south—a move that MacArthur gambled would "disintegrate" the Communists.

MacArthur gambled also that Russia or Red China would not intervene.

"It should be over quickly," Lt. Gen. Walton H. Walker commented.

However, the Eighth Army commander cautioned there would be hard fighting ahead if the Reds bring up reserves "we don't know about."

Planned July 12

It wasn't a hasty strategy—these coordinated blows against the Red invaders. The bold plan for the west coast landings was conceived by MacArthur July 12, less than three weeks after the tank-led North Koreans crossed parallel 38 dividing the Asiatic peninsula.

The quick success of the landings was credited largely to six destroyers—the "sitting ducks" of Inchon.

The destroyers steamed slowly up to Inchon's Wolmi island defense outpost, deliberately trying to make the Reds blunder into firing. The Reds did. Flashes disclosed the shore gun positions. Then the heavy guns of British and American cruisers roared a crushing barrage.

The navy reported the destroyers suffered "superficial" damage. Undetected, the shore guns might have wrought havoc among the landing forces. (AP) correspondent Reiman Morin said there were many anxious moments before the Red guns opened up.

More Islands Seized

Other islands, farther out but flanking the Inchon harbor, had been seized earlier by South Korean Marines.

Associated Press correspondent Stan Swinton reported from the Masan sector—the extreme southern flank of the offensive—that U. S. 25th division units had advanced up to two miles against heavy resistance.

Also in action—on the 25th's right (north) flank—were the U. S. Second Division, the British 27th Brigade, the U. S. First Cavalry Division and South Korean units.

They knifed forward on roads leading to Seoul, 165 miles away.

The offensive opened at 7 a. m. (5 p. m. EST, Friday) with the Second Division pushing off from positions east of the Nakdong river, southwest of Taegu. (AP) correspondent William Jordan reported the doughboys gained a mile and a half in the first two hours.

They occupied a commanding hill northwest of Changnyong against fierce resistance.

Enemy Pinned Down
Troopers of the First Cavalry struck north and northwest of Taegu, by-passing North Koreans dug in on nearby hills. Artillery and planes kept the Reds pinned down while the troopers advanced.

The British attacked on the first cavalry's left flank while South Korean troops moved forward on the right. Arrayed in front of the three outfits were an estimated 24,000 Reds—believed the biggest enemy troop concentration along the 123-mile beach-

Strike Brewing In Westinghouse

PITTSBURGH, — (P)—Possibility of a strike in Westinghouse Electric Corporation plants grew today as two major unions representing the bulk of 70,000 workers expressed deep dissatisfaction with an offer of an eight-cent hourly wage hike.

The new CIO International Union of Electrical Workers (IUE) and the Independent United Electrical Workers (NE) flatly rejected the offer.

The UE, which only yesterday signed a new contract with General Electric corporations for what it said amounted to a 10-cent hourly boost, ordered a strike vote for the 22,000 Westinghouse workers it claims.

The CIO union, which says it represents 45,000 workers, called an emergency session of its strategy committee. A spokesman said "a meeting of our Westinghouse conference board will be called within the next few days to take appropriate action."

The CIO-IUE also signed a new contract with General Electric yesterday. A spokesman for the Independent Federation of Westinghouse salaried workers said the company's offer undoubtedly will be rejected by his union "in view of GE's 10-cent grant."

East German Deputy Marked For Oblivion By Russian Bosses

BERLIN — (P)—Dr. Hermann Kastner, deputy prime minister of East Germany, appeared today to be the latest official marked for political oblivion in the Russian zone.

Kastner, chairman of the Liberal Democratic Party (LDP), was not mentioned in the party's list of top candidates for next month's parliamentary elections. In Communist-controlled East Germany, a "candidate" means one thing for a politician—he's all washed up in the big time.

Already, half a dozen leading officials in East Germany have been made to walk the political plank, presumably for their waning ardor to Soviet Russia.

Toronto Pays Tribute To Memory Of 119 Who Died In Noronic Fire

TORONTO—(P)—Civil officials and citizens pay tribute today to the memory of the 119 persons, mostly Americans, who perished in the Noronic cruise ship fire in Toronto harbor last Sept. 17.

Mayor Hiram McCallum will place a wreath on a stone monument marking the grave of five unidentified victims of the disaster—worst in a century on the great lakes.

Damages suits totalling $11,000,000 brought against the ship's owners, Canada Steamship Lines, as a result of the fire, still await court decisions.

head perimeter.

In all—the beachhead and the big amphibious landing force in the north—the Communists were believed to have an army of 140,000. The immediate objective of the Inchon landing forces was the recapture of Seoul and the rail and highway supply lines radiating from the former South Korean capital.

"Everything the enemy shoots and all additional replacements he needs have to come through Seoul," MacArthur told AP Correspondent Russell Brines.

"We are going to try to seize that distribution area, so that it will be impossible for the North Koreans to get additional men or more than a trickle of supplies."

Commander Watches

The 70-year-old United Nations commander, wearing his familiar gold-braided campaign cap and faded slacks, watched the landings at Inchon from the flagship of Rear Adm. James H. Doyle, commander of the assault force.

Later, he and his staff boarded a launch and cruised within rifle range of the Reds on the beach.

After the rapid-fire developments at Inchon and the opening of the allied offensive in the southeast, Rear Adm. Arleigh A. Burke told a news conference:

"The Reds are in a helluva bad way and it is about time they realized it. Their best bet is to surrender."

six weeks in Korea is like stepping from a smelly, muddy ditch into a banquet room at the Waldorf.

No fleas in my bed, no nasty war noises overhead, and steak instead of pork luncheon meat for dinner. This isn't Japan. It is really heaven.

I hitch-hiked over with Don Whitehead. What should be waiting on the Korean airport as we drove up but General MacArthur's own private four-engine plane—the famous "Bataan."

Doug wasn't aboard himself, but one of his one-star lads was. He saw us pawing our feet bashfully in the dust and allowed as how he would take us to Tokyo if we wanted to go and didn't mind riding in a beat up old five-star plane.

"They Also Serve"

And figuring we might wait a long time until a six-star general's plane came along with a better offer, we bowed to destiny and said yes.

Like all those who return from a battle area to so-called civilization we were full of self pity and felt we alone appreciated the full horror of war. But as we stepped off the plane at a field near Tokyo an air force captain climbed over his car and kissed his wife goodbye.

She drove away with her chin up and tears streaming down her cheeks, and suddenly I was humbled with the knowledge that there was more to war than I would ever know. For the first time I really understood the meaning of a line from a Milton Sonnet I studied long ago:

"They also serve who only stand and wait."

We felt lonesome and out of place here for the first couple of days. We hung out at the press club and swapped shop talk about the war with other correspondents back from the front. Wasn't that silly? To me our precious leave talking about death in Korea—with life all around us here to enjoy.

But the third day back the strangeness wore away and we began to savor again the luxury of the push button way of living. The first thing we did was go shopping. That is one of the things you miss most on a battle front—you can't go out and spend money.

So we satisfied our pent-up buying hunger by frittering away our yen on all sorts of useless things.

Old Japanese Custom

I agreed to go with Whitehead only on condition that he walk two paces behind me and not to speak to me while anyone was looking as he had a Korean hair-cut made him look like a country cousin mangled by sheep shears.

At the end of the day as we leaned back into a cab with our arms full of bundles Don said warily like a middle-aged lady coming home from a department store sale:

"Baw!—you know that Kentucky hillbilly never could pronounce Boyle—Baw! shopping just wears me down."

"Mrs. Whitehead," I said, "it sure does get a body in the legs at that."

I told this story at the press club and now everybody calls poor Don "Mrs. Whitehead" and "Grandma." He is still the same old patient tower of kindness and strength.

When I started this letter I meant to tell you about unexpectedly taking a bath with some strange Japanese ladies, but I will write you about that later. It is just an old custom here anyway and doesn't mean much. Meanwhile, keep that candle in the window for me.

Your loving husband, Harold.

Detroit Police Shoot Man Believed Linked To Counterfeit Ring

DETROIT—(P)—Secret service agents sought a possible link today between a man shot by police here last night and a nation-wide counterfeit ring.

Peter M. Lombardo, 49, of Detroit, was shot through the chest by police chasing a man who had fled from a store which reported he passed a counterfeit $20 bill there. Police said he was held for investigation in passing of several such bills.

Police Lt. Gerald Walters said two paper bags were found in Lombardo's car, one containing 14 counterfeit $20 bills and the other $246 in legal currency.

The counterfeit bills were turned over to William A. Carlson, Detroit secret service chief, who said they appeared identical to those passed here last year, when Sam Evola, of Grosse Pointe, was sentenced to five years for passing them.

Sugar Refinery Will Run Soon

Menominee Plant Is Getting Ready

MENOMINEE, Mich. — The 1950 sugar processing run of the Superior Sugar Refining company is scheduled to start during the week of Sept. 25, it was reported today by Superior Manager John Sargent. The 1950 run gives promise of being one of the longest in many years, but a week or 10 days of sunny weather is needed to help the beets before the harvest starts.

Superior's beet growing territory, which covers counties in the eastern half of Wisconsin as far south as the Illinois state line, has about 9,600 acres in beets this season, a big increase from last year's 5,500 acres.

Sargent said preliminary reports from the field indicate the yield will be normal (10 tons to the acre) and that sugar content of beets sampled showed them to be fair. If the total yield is between 90,000 and 100,000 tons, it would mean three months' operation of the Menominee plant, which has a slicing capacity of about 1,000 tons in a 24-hour day.

A crew of 70 workers is now employed readying the plant for the annual run. When sugar refining starts, the crew will be increased to about 330 and will work around the clock, including Sundays and holidays. Sargent said no labor shortage is anticipated. Beet-growing farmers are given preference for work at the plant.

College Professor Cracks Gambling Ring On Summer Vacation

MEDIA, Pa.—(P)—A 40-year college professor fashioned his own course in organized gambling and came up with results which enabled Delaware county to pass out 15 warrants.

District Attorney C. William Kraft, jr., said yesterday his undercover man in the county's five-month investigation of horse race book-makers, men and women, was Harry W. Allison, who teaches the Penn State Extension college in Swarthmore.

Kraft said Allison took the job during the summer vacation and his work resulted in the issuance of 15 warrants and the holding of eight men for grand jury action. Those arrested were held in jail ranging up to $5,000 on charges of gambling.

The district attorney said Allison answered an advertisement in Philadelphia papers for a part time criminal investigator. He was hired because gamblers in the county too easily recognized police officers, Kraft said.

President Truman Shows Himself Off As Capitol Sight

WASHINGTON—(P)—President Truman showed himself off as one of the sights of the capital.

He told some 1,900 persons at a convention of the National Association of postal supervisors that the bad weather since Monday must have kept them from seeing the other sights here.

So, he added, he dropped over to "let you see me as one of the sights in Washington."

In an unannounced appearance at the association's banquet at the Statler Hotel, the president again criticized persons whom he accused of throwing bricks at government employees.

He repeated what he has often said before, that he has had trouble finding "a man who is willing to take the rough treatment he has to receive in key positions."

New Job Clear For Marshall

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON—(P)—The way was almost clear today for Gen. George C. Marshall to take over as secretary of defense.

Riding down Republican opposition, Congress voted yesterday to shatter a long-time precedent and let a military man—instead of a civilian—enter the cabinet as boss of a military department.

Only President Truman's certain approval of this action and equally certain Senate confirmation of Marshall's nomination remain before Marshall can step in.

The House voted, 220 to 105, approval of a bill, requested by Mr. Truman, to amend the armed services unification act to permit Marshall—and only he—to become secretary of defense. This 1947 law had specified that only a civilian could hold the post. One hundred Republicans and five Democrats voted against the bill.

Before it acted, the House added an amendment expressing the sentiment of Congress that Marshall's appointment must not be followed by the nomination of another military man when he retires.

Accepting this added safeguard without debate, the Senate a couple of hours later voted 47 to 21 to send the bill on to President Truman.

Six Little Ships And Red Blunder Score At Inchon

of the island. The flashes were reddish gold and they came so fast that soon the entire slope was sparkling with pinpoints of fire. The destroyers were quick to answer.

Lightning flashes leaped from their guns. They hit back, shell for shell, firing faster and faster until the whole channel was a tunnel of rumbling thunder.

The pace increased. On Wolmi, still more gun positions opened up. The red necklace spread and widened. And they were hitting the destroyers now. They could hardly miss at that range.

Then a report came down to the bridge and your blood ran cold. "It looks as though the 733 is dead in the water, sir." Admiral Struble's answer was quiet and the words were taut. "Make sure, and then see what we have to do to get her out of there."

The duel went on for an hour. It was a slugging match, toe to toe, and nobody quit or backed away. Six brave little ships sat there and shot it out with the dug-in enemy gun crews on Wolmi Island.

"Mission Accomplished"

Three of the six were hit and one seriously, but not so seriously she could not come out under her own steam. An officer died. There were other casualties.

The destroyers came out proudly and without haste, still firing, flat trajectory fire at close range and then at higher arcs as the distance increased.

The mission was accomplished, successfully the navy will say. Gloriously is a better word. If the guns on Wolmi Island had never been discovered, if the North Koreans had not blundered into exposing their armament, it is hard to say what might have happened to the transports and the little landing craft when they came in for assault two days later.

At best, the casualties would have been enormous—for Wolmi was invaded with guns—at worst the invasion could have stalled right there at the first objective.

Six brave little ships exposed themselves to the fire. The bigger
